State Board of Regents Approve 2014-2015 Higher Ed Budget & Prioritize Capital Facilities Requests

LOGAN, UT – During its September meeting, held today at Utah State University, the State Board of Regents approved the Utah System of Higher Education’s 2014-15 ongoing budget request and capital development funding priorities .

The Regents’ top budget priorities are Employee Compensation, Acute Equity, and Distinctive Mission for the state’s 66% Goal. The request for compensation is $30,300,100, which covers a 3% performance-based increase and health care premium increases. Acute Equity addresses the most severe funding issues that have developed over a number of years when enrollment growth exceeded state funding. Distinctive Mission includes initiatives to further participation, completion, and economic development in furtherance of the state’s goal that 66% of adults hold a higher education degree or certificate by 2020. The Regents have requested $69.7 million and $10 million for these areas, respectively. The budget also requests $7 million in operational expenditures in infrastructure and technology and $7.8 million for student access initiatives and collaborations. A total of $10.4 million was approved for state initiatives at four different institutions.

The Regents also approved a prioritized list of state-funded capital development projects submitted by USHE institutions. The list has Weber State University’s new Science Lab Building, with a requested $57.4 million in state funds, ranked number one. A new Science Building at Snow College with a request of $18.9 million is ranked second. Following in order of priority are: University of Utah Crocker Science Center at $34 million; Utah State University Statewide Instructional Initiative at $26.425 million; Salt Lake Community College Career & Technical Education classroom building at $27 million; Dixie State University Physical Education/Student Wellness Center at $13.5 million;

Southern Utah University new Business Building at $13.5 million; and Utah Valley University Performing Arts Building at $30 million. These figures represent the state funding portion only. In many cases, private funds have also been raised toward the building costs.

The budget request and building priorities will be submitted to Governor Herbert for his consideration as he makes his overall recommendation to the Utah State Legislature for the upcoming 2014 legislative session.
