

Talent Ready Utah

53B-34-103

In 2018, Talent Ready Utah was legislatively created to be an industry-facing department within the then Governor's Office of Economic Development (now Governor's Office of Economic Opportunity) to convene industry, education, state agencies, and other key stakeholders to create, expand, and align short-term and long long-term workforce development solutions to the needs of industry. Talent Ready Utah manages and administers multiple targeted workforce development state appropriations through grants awarded to local education agencies (LEAs) and higher education institutions based on regional workforce needs that are data-driven and backed by industry.

On July 1, 2022, Talent Ready Utah was officially moved to the Utah System of Higher Education in the Office of the Commissioner. Talent Ready Utah now reports to the Commissioner of Higher Education. According to statute, Talent Ready Utah shall coordinate with the state's Talent Board to;

- Further education and industry alignment in the state;
- Coordinate the development of new education programs that align with industry demand;
- Coordinate or partner with other state agencies to administer grant programs;
- Promote the inclusion of industry partners in education;
- Provide outreach and information to employers regarding workforce programs and initiatives;
- Develop and analyze stackable credential programs;
- Determine efficiencies among workforce providers;
- Map available workforce programs focusing on programs that successfully create high-paying jobs; and
- Support initiatives of the Talent Board.
