

In addition to earning college credit while in high school, Concurrent Enrollment (CE) helps you explore what you might study in college and connect college studies to future careers. To select CE classes to maximize your exploration:

1. Discover your career interest personality. Your “career interest personality” may make different careers more attractive and rewarding to you. For example, if you have an artistic personality, a career in graphic design will reward your creativity. If you have a Social personality, a career in Nursing will reward your compassion and caring. Discover your career interest personality by taking the Interest Profiler at <https://www.onetcenter.org/IP.html>.
2. Uncover the things you like to work with. All occupations involve some work with data, ideas, people, and things. Different personality types are attracted to occupations that focus on different combinations of these areas. When you register to take the ACT, answer all the interest questions. If you do, your ACT results will include information on your interest in working with data, ideas, people, or things and will connect you to college subject you may prefer.
3. Explore college subjects within an Exploratory Track. In college, you pick a subject you want to study. Subjects can be anything from art to zoology, from business to engineering. Courses in the subject plus general education requirements in math, English, sciences, social science, the arts and humanities, give you a well-rounded education with specialization in a particular subject. You may not know yet what you want to study in college, but you can use your career interest personality to pick an Exploratory Major Track. Tracks group related subjects together so you can explore your options. Each subject includes classes, often numbered 1010, that provide an introduction or a “survey” to a subject. Most survey classes also count toward general education requirements.
4. Select a college math class that fits your college and career track. Most certificate and all degree programs require students to complete a Quantitative Literacy (QL) class*. You are encouraged to complete QL senior year of high school. Different QL classes provide the math foundation for different pathways:

MATH 1030 – Intro to Quantitative Reasoning

An appropriate math class for students studying humanities or other programs not related to math and science. The class covers a broad scope of mathematical topics as they apply to real-world problems. Topics include reasoning and number sense, using percents and estimation, math for financial matters such as loans and investments, probability and statistics, and modeling. MATH 1030 may be the last Math class you take in college.

MATH/STAT 1040 – Intro to Statistics

Recommended particularly for students in programs desiring statistical literacy, including but not limited to Social Science, Behavioral Sciences, and Nursing (college may require 1040 or 1050). This class includes descriptive and inferential statistical methods. Topics include sampling design, descriptive statistics, linear regression and correlation, probability, sampling distributions, hypothesis testing, and confidence intervals. MATH 1040 may be the last Math class you take in college.

MATH 1050 – College Algebra

Designed for students interested in Mathematics, Science, Engineering, Technology, and Business. An in-depth exploration of algebra topics designed to ultimately prepare students for Calculus or further education classes. Topics include functions, including polynomial, rational, exponential, and logarithmic; systems of equations; matrices and determinants; partial fraction decomposition; conics; and sequences and series. MATH 1050 is the first Math class you will likely take in college.

Each Exploratory Track lists recommendations for the QL that will provide Math knowledge for most of the programs in that track. Ask a campus advisor if you are unsure about the best QL choice for you.

MATH 1010 Intermediate Algebra does not fulfill the QL requirement. It is intended only for students who cannot place directly into MATH 1050 after completion of Secondary MATH III.*

TABLE NOTES: 1 Class is not a GenEd class at this institution. Students planning to attend that institution may choose to take another class in the category. 2 Class is a Human Relations GenEd at SLCC. 3 Class is an AI GenEd class at USU. 4 Class is an Oral Communications GenEd at Snow and a Communication GenEd at SLCC. 5 Class is a SS GenEd class at DSU and UVU and an Oral Communications GenEd at Snow. 6 Class counts as a SS GenEd at SUU only.

*General Education Legend: AI American Institutions, FA Fine Arts, H Humanities, LS Life Science, PS Physical Science, SS Social Science

Numerous CTE programs fall into the Realistic Pathway. Each institution offers different CTE programs from Automotive to Welding. Ask your high school advisor about available CTE programs. Contact a college advisor about the right math class for the Realistic pathway that interests you.

+BIOL 1010 is on hiatus from USU. Please contact the USU CE Director if interested in offering this course.

Questions to Ask a College or University Academic Advisor

1. How will the CE class(es) I am interested in help me meet high school and college graduation requirements? Also, how will ALL the credit I earn while still in high school – CE, early college, IB, and AP –meet graduation requirements?
2. How will the CE credits I earn from one college transfer to other colleges?
3. How will the CE credits I earn create a permanent college transcript and impact financial aid options in college?
